A sepia-toned historical photograph of a large outdoor swimming pool in a city. The pool is rectangular with a curved end and is surrounded by a paved area. Several vintage cars from the early 20th century are parked along the street in the foreground. Palm trees and other tropical vegetation are scattered around the pool area. In the background, there are multi-story buildings, some with arched windows and balconies. The overall scene suggests a resort or a public park in a tropical or semi-tropical location.
